Gas Station Gunman Captured Here, Second Escapes

Suspect Talked Into Surrender By Constable

Richard McLish Held; Robert Hargraves Object of Search

By LARRY QUINN

The search for one of two Salem men who held up Lee Paul's Oil Company in Berlin Center late Monday evening was continuing this morning in the Rt. 534-Pine Lake Rd. area.

The suspect still at large has been identified as Robert Hargraves, 24, of 435 Ash St.

His partner, already confined to city jail as the result of a gun battle at the Hargraves' residence, is identified by police as Richard McLish, 24, of 585 Granite St.

According to reports, the two allegedly robbed the Berlin Center station shortly before 11 p. m. last night. They reportedly took $180 from the service station cash register and another $40 from the attendant, Albert Prichard of Deerfield.

Other items reported stolen included three wrist watches, 10 pair of sun glasses, 11 cigarette lighters, two pocket watches, a flashlight and two cans of lighter fluid.

Hargraves is being hunted by city police, Mahoning County Sheriff's Deputies, and State Highway Patrolmen from Lisbon and Canfield.

He reportedly eluded police in a gunfight at his home last night and was rediscovered in the Damascus area early this morning by Mahoning deputies.

The deputies said they spotted him driving a stolen car in erratic manner on Rt. 62 at about 6:30 a. m. The deputies and Hargraves recognized each other almost simultaneously and the chase began in a westward direction on Rt. 62 to Damascus where Hargraves turned north on Rt. 534, the Fairfield Road. Moments later the deputies found the stolen car abandoned at Pine Lake Rd. and Rt. 534. The stolen car belonged to John Pagan, MC 1, Damascus, Rd.

The arrest of McLish was effected mostly by the efforts of Perry Township Constable John Herman. McLish surrendered after pleas by Herman convinced him that resistance was futile. The report

Tobacco Heir Wins Divorce From 3rd Wife

DARIEN, Ga. (AP)—Multimillionaire R. J. Reynolds won a divorce from his third wife by a jury verdict that gave her alimony of $12,500 a year. She had asked $200,000 annually.

Reynolds, heir to a tobacco fortune, also was granted a permanent injunction preventing the former Muriel Marston of Toronto from trespassing on his 12-mile-long Sapelo Island estate or from disturbing him there. Her attorneys filed a motion for a new trial.

The verdict in the two-week trial was returned Monday night. It provided monthly payments of $10,402 for a period of 24 years starting June 1.

Reynolds, 54, former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee and former mayor of Winston-Salem, N.C., is described as desperately ill from a lung ailment.

Mrs. Reynolds appeared surprised at the verdict. "Oh, how terrible," she said. "He has no grounds whatever. His attack on me is the most scandalous thing of my experience."

Aaron Kravitch, chief of the tobacco heir's legal staff, said the verdict meant that Mrs. Reynolds left the court $300,000 poorer than when she came in.

A pre-nuptial agreement that gave Mrs. Reynolds $15,000 a year was waived by her attorneys in pressing her claim for $200,000 a year or a six-million-dollar settlement. Insurance policies on Reynolds with a cash surrender value of $210,000, naming her as a beneficiary, were impounded by the court.

Reynolds and his wife separated last August after seven years of marriage. Reynolds charged his wife with constant nagging, cruel treatment and extravagance.

Mrs. Reynolds countered that her husband was an alcoholic.

Twisters, Rain Lash Midwest

No One Injured, But Damage Heavy

By The Associated Press

A rash of storms which churned up strong winds and scattered tornadoes hurled heavy rains and hail on parts of the midwest and central plains Monday night and today.

Damage was locally heavy from the winds which uprooted trees, toppled utility poles and rocked homes and farm buildings, but no injuries were reported.

A twister touched ground twice north of Loganport, Ind., damaging four hangars and two airplanes at an airport near the city. Another twister destroyed a barn near Peoria in central Illinois.

Near Baldwin, Ill., 50 miles southwest of St. Louis, 20 children and a bus driver watched apprehensively as a tornado swirled by within 250 yards of their bus, slapping down utility poles and trees.

A thunderstorm buffeted the St. Louis area with gusty winds and hailstones, some the size of golf balls. Some 20,000 homes in North St. Louis were without power temporarily after lightning struck a utility pole, knocking out a substation.

Winds were clocked up to 50 mph in Illinois and lower Michigan. About 50 boats in all sizes capsized during a windstorm at a Mississippi River dock at Keokuk, Iowa.

A heavy thunderstorm poured an inch of rain on Chicago while 1/2 inch amounts fell in parts of Ohio, Wisconsin and lower Michigan.

A thunderstorm drenched the Oklahoma City, Okla., area with 1 1/2 inches of rain. Thunderstorms dropped a 1/2 inch of rain on Glasgow, Mont., and Akron, Ohio.

Snow mixed with light rain fell in the northern Rockies.

570 Students At Program on Water Safety

Approximately 570 juniors and seniors from Beaver, United, Fairfield-Waterford and Salsville high schools attended the first school-sponsored water safety demonstration Monday at Guilford Lake.

County School Supt. James L. McBride conceived the program which was set up by R. L. Lide, county game warden. Lide said this was the first such program held in the state.

Subjects demonstrated included e getting in and out of small boats, importance of observing boat capacity legal safety requirements, water traffic rules and courtesy, life saving, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and perils and pleasures of skin diving and water skiing.

McBride said the increasing number of weekend boaters is making rivers and lakes dangerous places, and that schools have the responsibility to give pupils water safety instructions.

A committee of teacher and lay people will be created to compile water-safety material for use in the curriculum.

The U.S. Power Squadron at Youngstown, Coast Guard Auxiliary, and State Highway Patrol gave demonstrations. An Alliance boat manufacturer furnished the watercraft for the demonstrations.

Insanity Plea Entered by Hargrove

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Floyd E. Hargrove, 35-year-old truck driver accused of first-degree murder in the sniper slaying of Charles R. Clark of Mentor, has changed his plea to innocent from one of innocent by reason of insanity.

The change came Monday as the trial opened here in the Common Pleas Court of Judge Winfield S. Slocum.

A tentative partial jury of nine men and one woman had been agreed upon by both the state and the defense, leaving only two more jurors and one alternate to be selected.

Although the prosecution had four challenges remaining and the defense two, it appeared a complete jury would be impaneled.

When the full jury is sworn in, it will be taken on a tour of the Clark home in Mentor. It was there that Clark was shot in the head by a .22-caliber bullet that crashed through a kitchen window, apparently coming from the backyard.

Prosecutor Edward R. Ostrander said he would contend that the shot was fired by Hargrove out of a yearning for Clark's attractive wife, Lois.

While questioning prospective jurors, Louis A. Turi Jr., one of Hargrove's attorneys, said he hoped to show that the shot was fired accidentally or by someone other than Hargrove.

Among the 30 spectators who squeezed into the court were Hargrove's mother, Mrs. Effie Walker of Toledo, and Clark's father, Carl of Rochester, N.Y. The elder Clark and his wife are staying with Mrs. Lois Clark in her home.

They have said they will not desert their daughter-in-law. She "is making a new life for herself and the (four) children—and that's to her credit," Carl Clark said.

New Orleans Schools Ordered To Desegregate

Georgia's Governor Warns Negroes on Proposed March

By The Associated Press

The ordering of desegregated classes in New Orleans' schools highlighted today's sixth anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in the nation's public schools.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright directed public schools in the Louisiana city to desegregate next September.

The judge had advised the Orleans Parish School Board to submit a desegregation plan "or I'll have one for you."

Gerald Rault, school board attorney, told the court Monday the board had not prepared a plan because it believed "that it does not have the right to do so" under state law.

The judge then issued his order. In Atlanta, Negro student leaders were uncertain whether to go ahead with plans for an integration sympathy march on the Georgia Capitol in the face of a stern warning by Gov. Ernest Vandiver. The governor said he would not tolerate "demonstrations which might incite violence and riots."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, issued a statement in New York in connection with the anniversary of the Supreme Court ruling.

He said that six years after that decision only 6 of every 100 Negro children in South and border states attend integrated classes.

Rev. King Issues Protest

Another Negro integration leader, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., protested his being placed on trial in a segregated courtroom in Montgomery, Ala., would violate his constitutional rights.

That action and other pre-trial motions led to postponement until Wednesday of the minister's arraignment on charges of filing false state income tax returns.

Twenty-four Negro students—four of them girls—were arrested during a sitdown at a lunch counter in the South. The company said it is obeying laws and customs in Southern cities where integration is prohibited.

In Detroit, the S. S. Kresge Co. said its policy is not to file complaints against sit-in demonstrators at its variety store lunch counters in the South. The company said it is obeying laws and customs in Southern cities where integration is prohibited.

Big Radar Unit Almost Ready Rocket-Detecting Base In Greenland

THULE, Greenland (AP)—The most powerful rocket-detecting radar in the free world will go into operation here within the next six months.

But the possibility already looms that this ballistic missile early warning system (BMEWS) with its 3,000-mile range later may have to be given even greater capability to cope with the mounting technology of Soviet weapon designers.

Brig. Gen. John B. Bestic, deputy director of communications and electronics of the U.S. Air Force, was asked by newsmen who visited this arctic site whether the three BMEWS stations being built could be improved later.

Bestic mentioned the Soviet missile firings into the Pacific early this year at ranges of more than 7,700 miles. Then he commented that "as time goes by we will have to think about longer range missiles" and how the operation of BMEWS might tie in with other systems such as the reconnaissance satellite Midas.

Bestic did not go into detail but some factors seemed obvious.

The 3,000-mile designed range of the BMEWS radars are to make possible detection of missiles as they climb after launching. If the Soviet Union is going into 8,000 or 9,000-mile missiles, that could change the future requirements for detection.

Allowances would have to be made for such things as more distant launch points, higher trajectories, different speed characteristics and possible counter radar methods.

This first BMEWS station incorporates all present techniques of radar, including a newly developed energy amplifying tube called klystron. This makes possible the radiation of enormous

East Palestine May Extend 'Fast' Time

EAST PALESTINE — City Council Monday night authorized the preparation of separate legislation which would (1) have the city remain on "fast" time through October and (2) provide automatic $30 monthly salary increases for members of the police department who have completed 20 year of service.

Last year East Palestine was one of the few communities to end Daylight Savings Time in September. The proposed legislation is an effort to put this city in step with surrounding communities.

Council voted unanimously Monday to have legislation prepared which will amend the existing ordinance which caused considerable controversy when it was passed last year.

Councilman Robert Smith was the only member to oppose proposed legislation to raise the salaries of policemen who have served 20 years.

Legislation on the time and police salary issues will be brought up at Council's next meeting June 9.

In other action Monday night, Council designated the First National Bank and the Union Commercial and Savings Bank as depositories for the city's inactive funds for a period of two years. The banks submitted identical bids of one per cent interest.

George Potters Get Old Seniority Rights

EAST PALESTINE — Seniority rights of potters transferred from W. S. George Pottery Plant 1 to Plant 4 and then back to Plant 1 were voted restored by Local 31 of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters last night.

The vote was 30-6, according to reports, with about 30 members present not voting. The vote concurred with a company policy on the matter which was read into the union minutes at the meeting.

The workers involved are those transferred from Plant 1 to Plant 4 and then back to plant 1 in the last five years.

parable even to the dangerous 1948 Stalin days of the Berlin blockade.

Unless he got an apology from the President of the United States, Khrushchev insisted, he could not negotiate with the U.S. President. This, he added in an aside, was a matter involving the internal politics of the Soviet Union.

The implication is that Khrushchev is engaged in a three-sided struggle with (1) the Stalinists, (2) the military and (3) the Chinese Communists, who have been nagging him for what appear to them to be reckless adventures in peace making.

Khrushchev, destroyer of the image of Stalin as a demigod, seems to have bowed to the Stalinists.

The Soviet chieftain has been required to kick overboard all he has built with great care over the past three years. Apparently, in the Stalinist and Red Chinese view, his peace gestures went much too far and threatened communism as a constantly moving, dynamic force.

Khrushchev for years has been fascinated by the idea of a Soviet Union so powerful and so economically prosperous that it could turn the world toward communism without exporting revolution or supporting it by overt force.

This has been costly to Communists in various areas. In the Arab nation of Iraq, for example, Communists felt strong enough months ago to make a grab for the whole country. They lacked only the assurance of Moscow's support. Khrushchev not only withheld it, he advised them against moving.

Would Decide On Resuming Summit Confab

Russian Repeats Parley Reopening Hinges on Apology

PARIS (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev suddenly announced today he was "ready to participate" in a Big Four discussion on holding a summit conference, but he repeated his demands for an American apology for spy flights over Russia.

In a statement at the Soviet Embassy, the Soviet leader said: "If the United States have really come to the decision to condemn the treacherous incursion of American military aircraft into the air space of the Soviet Union, publicly express regrets over these incursions, punish those who are guilty and give assurance that such incursions will not be repeated in the future, we would be ready on the receipt of such assurance to participate in the summit conference."

Khrushchev preceded this statement of his conditions with the following paragraph: "Oaks Big 4 Meeting

"I am ready to participate in a meeting with President de Gaulle of France, Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain and U.S. President Eisenhower to exchange views on whether conditions have materialized to start the summit conference."

His statement seemed to mean that his offer to attend a preliminary conference with the Western Big Three was unconditional but that his conditions for reviving the summit conference itself were unchanged. Eisenhower has already rejected these conditions, though he announced spy plane flights had been called off.

Earlier Khrushchev rejected to day a bid by President Charles de Gaulle to revive the summit conference in a Big Four meeting this afternoon. The Soviet leader said he would not attend.

Both President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain had agreed to participate.

Khrushchev made known his reaction in an interview over a European radio station at Sezanne, a town about 7 miles from Paris. He had gone there on a motor trip.

Says De Gaulle Knows Position
"Gen. De Gaulle knows my position," Khrushchev said. "He knows very well that we won't attend a conference as long as the Americans will not have given us satisfaction."

Khrushchev had stated exactly the same intention earlier in a sidewalk news conference near the Soviet Embassy.

Laughing as he talked with newsmen, the Soviet Premier said that unless Eisenhower apologized for U.S. spy flights over Soviet territory "and admits that America made an aggression against the Soviet people the conference will not start and I will return home."

Khrushchev's stand apparently killed off the last Western hope of reviving the conference, which collapsed at its opening session Monday in a Khrushchev-Eisenhower explosion over aerial espionage.

Macmillan Suggested Plan
The decision to make a final try to restore the shattered pattern of East-West diplomacy was made by De Gaulle, Eisenhower and Macmillan in a meeting at the Alyssee Palace. De Gaulle's residence, this morning, Macmillan suggested the plan of calling a conference to see whether Khrushchev would attend.

De Gaulle then sent invitations for a Big Four session in mid-afternoon at the palace. Eisenhower and Macmillan promptly announced acceptance.

De Gaulle sped the invitation to Khrushchev by motorcycle messenger. The Soviet Premier had driven to Sezanne with his defense minister, Marshal Rodion Malinovsky for a tour of a World War I battlefield where Malinovsky fought as a member of the Russian Expeditionary Force in France.

While Khrushchev rejected a

DiSalle's Forces Keep Control Of State Executive Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's forces remain in control of the Democratic State Executive Committee and the Ohio delegation to the party's national convention.

The new state executive committee that runs party affairs in Ohio re-elected State Chairman William L. Coleman of Marysville and other officers for another two years.

And convention delegates meeting later Monday night acted to retain Albert A. Horstman of Dayton and Mrs. Helen Gunsett of Van Wert as Ohio members of the party's national committee and make Coleman delegation chairman.

Resolving themselves into a committee on the whole, delegates voted to make final section of national committee members and delegation officers at the convention that opens July 11 in Los Angeles.

"Then they voted to recommend Horstman and Mrs. Gunsett for national posts. The action to make recommendations came at the suggestion of DiSalle when it became apparent that U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young of Cleveland would oppose Horstman for national committee.

On a roll call to recommend Young withdrew after the first 11 votes, including DiSalle's, went to Horstman.

Dan Duffy of Cleveland, allied with anti-DiSalle forces of Cuyahoga County Chairman Ray T. Miller, then asked to be recorded as not voting to make Horstman's recommendation unanimous. DiSalle drew a laugh by seconding Duffy's request. Miller did not attend the meeting.

Congressman Wayne L. Hays of Flushing in the 18th District nominated Young. State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson nominated Horstman. Mrs. Catherine C. Turner of Akron nominated Mrs. Gunsett.

Delegates also recommended Eugene H. Hanhart of Dover, former state chairman, as temporary secretary of the delegation.

Coleman, as temporary chairman, was empowered to name a committee of five to recommend delegation officers for election at Los Angeles.

Miller, in a break with DiSalle, entered a slate of delegates in the May 3 election to oppose the governor's favorite son slate but won only nine delegates carrying eight votes. DiSalle's delegates carry the rest of Ohio's 64 convention votes.

All delegates are pledged to U.S. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the presidential nomination but the Miller faction has threatened to act apart from DiSalle's delegates.

Duffy protested that action by the delegates was illegal because the official vote count will not be completed until after this week. He asserted the action Monday night might lead to a lawsuit.

Members of the new State Central Committee resolved themselves into an executive committee to re-elect Coleman chairman and enlarge the number of vice chairmen from one to four.

John P. Kelly of Toledo was re-elected vice chairman and these three were named to the extra posts: Harriett J. Vanca of Elyria, Mary H. Floyd of New Boston near Portsmouth and Don R. Gossney of Columbiana.

George L. Flanagan of Dayton was renamed executive committee. Members of the central committee — two were elected from each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts — named Harry R. Meredith of Lima chairman, Lottie Quigley of Canton vice chairman and John D. May of Akron treasurer.

Miss Mary Gallagher of Ironton was named secretary of both the central and executive committees. Don Carmichael of Cleveland was named chairman of the Democratic Finance Committee.

Canton Population Down; Massillon, Alliance Show Hike

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Canton lost population, and Massillon and Alliance gained only slightly in the decade to 1960, Roy L. Sheil, supervisor of the U.S. Census in the 16th Congressional District, said today.

Stark County as a whole rose in population by 54,762 or 19.34 per cent to 337,956. The city of Canton declined from 116,912 to 112,750. Massillon increased from 29,594 to 31,029; and Alliance was up from 26,161 to 27,798.

The county's gain exceeded expectations, and the city's loss was no surprise. Canton lost much residential area through construction of its new expressway and unlike Massillon and Alliance has added no population through annexation since 1950.

North Canton, now in process of moving from village to city status, increased in population from 4,032 in 1950 to 7,781 this year. Another potential new city is Louisville, which had 3,801 in 1950 and 5,112 in the census just completed.

Tuscarawas County increased from 70,320 to 76,451, a gain of 8.72 per cent.

Wayne County's population showed an increase of 28 per cent — from 58,716 in 1950 to 75,148 in the 1960 census.

The figure for Wooster jumped from 14,005 to 16,916, also a 28 per cent gain, while Orrville showed an increase of 25.4 per cent — from 5,153 to 6,464. Rittman became eligible for city status with an increase of 41.7 per cent. Population there is 5,398 compared with 3,810 in 1950.

BOY DROWNS IN RIVER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three Columbus boys played hooky from school Monday to go wading and one drowned.

The dead youth is Robert Steed, 10. He and his brother, Danny, 9, and Bruce Nixon, 10, were wading in the Olentangy River when Robert fell into a deep hole. Bruce tried to save him but began to founder himself. A fisherman rescued Bruce while Danny ran for help.

Lisbon Man Submits Low Bid for Milkhouse

Rex V. Teagarden of Lisbon was the low bidder Monday for construction of a new milkhouse at the Columbiana County Home.

His low bid was $4,454, according to Frank Wilson, chairman of the Board of Commissioners.

There were three other bids, ranging to $5,246.

Plans call for construction with six-inch block with four-inch glazed tile inside. The building will have a gabled roof with insulated ceiling. Plumbing and a 1,000 gallon septic tank and wiring are included in the bid.

Well, The Auto Was Clean, Anyway

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The next time James Fudge washes his car he won't park so close to the water.

The brakes slipped while Fudge was cleaning the car near a pond here Monday, and into the water it went.

While Fudge was getting help a passerby saw the car in the water and hurriedly called the rescue squad, thinking the driver must still be inside.

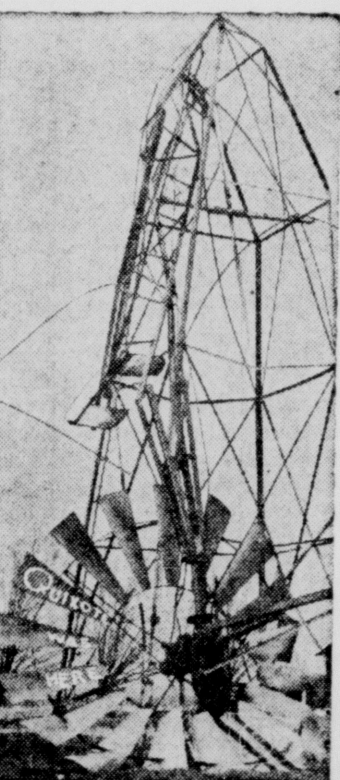

The rescue squad, Fudge and the wrecker all arrived at the same time.

The car was removed finally, water logged—but clean.

ERNEST BORGNINE SUED

LOS ANGELES (AP)—His former lawyers are suing Ernest Borgnine because, they say, he didn't pay them a percentage of his earnings.

Irving B. Glickfeld and Hyman L. Goldstein said the husky actor agreed to pay them 5 per cent of his gross income during the life of a 1956-1958 contract. They said he earned $284,646 in the period and still owes them $5,732.

LITERARY, YET — A well-read Kilroy left his mark on this toppled windmill in Argyle, Wis. Though wind did it, the kill was credited to Don Quixote, the fictional Spanish knight who jousted with windmills.

Gates Ordered U.S. Armed Forces Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Monday's worldwide alertness test of U.S. armed forces was ordered specially from Paris by Thomas S. Gates, secretary of defense. Word of Gates' order came from the Pentagon and strengthened belief that the test was linked to the tense atmosphere of the summit talks. Gates is in Paris as President Eisenhower's chief military adviser.

However, Gates' order came several hours before Soviet President Nikita Khrushchev collapsed the Big Four meeting by denouncing the American U2 plane incident and demanding an apology from Eisenhower.

The middle-of-the-night order started a quick check on the availability of key personnel. Many pilots were rushed back to their bases.

The Pentagon said Gates' order was general, leaving it up to the Joint Chiefs of Staff to decide which of several possible maneuvers to follow. It was officially described as a "worldwide communications readiness exercise."

The order was so secret that the Pentagon's top public information officers knew nothing about it when inquiring newsmen routed them out of bed.

The alert-message was sent to command posts throughout the world. It left to local commanders how far they wanted to go in calling men to their stations.

HERBERT MARSHALL WED

HOLLYWOOD — When actor Herbert Marshall got married for the fifth time, he kept it a secret.

But Monday it leaked out: On April 25, a Los Angeles judge married Marshall, 69, and Dee Anne Kahmann, 38, a department store buyer who had been wed twice before.

Appropriations to Top Revenues, DiSalle Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says state revenues in the next fiscal year will fall below appropriations.

It's the revenues that pay for appropriations by the Legislature.

At his press conference Monday, the governor estimated income for the bookkeeping year starting July 1 at $87 million dollars. But he said appropriations that must be paid out of revenues will total 611 million dollars for the year.

This was DiSalle's answer to criticism by State Rep. Robert

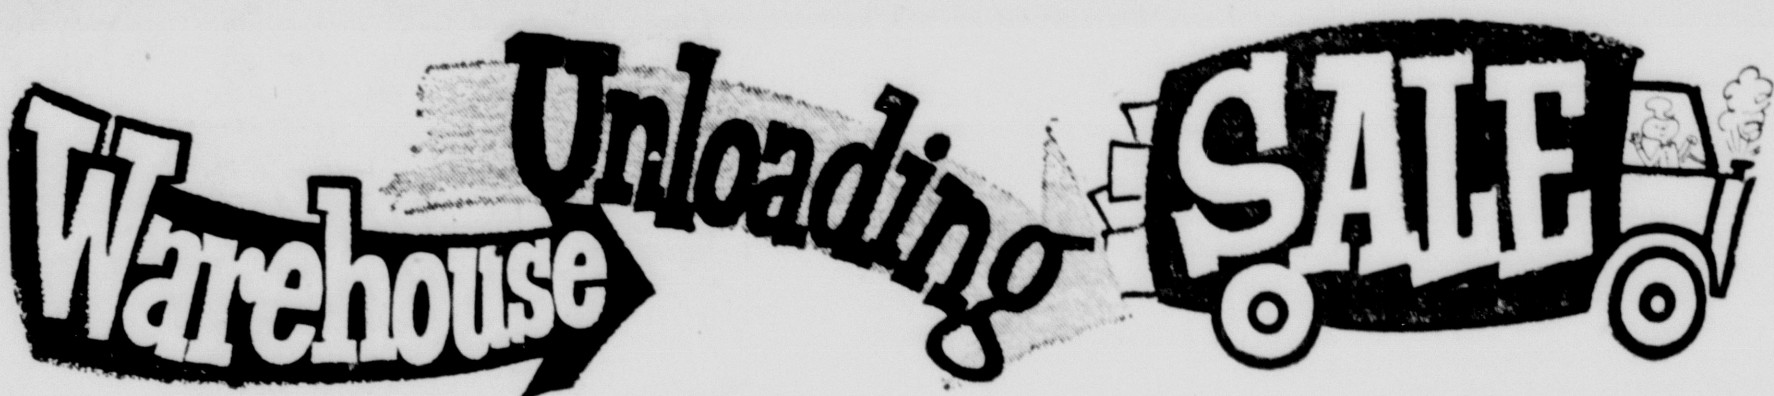

Taft (R-Hamilton) that money was running out of the governor's ears because of his big tax increases.

Taft said the administration's tax program was more than 300 million dollars in excess of needs. He tried, he said, to cut the budget 8 per cent but was rebuffed by the Democratic-controlled Legislature.

DiSalle repeated a recent estimate that the state would end this fiscal year with barely a 16-million dollar balance in uncommitted funds. This balance, coupled with revenues below appropriations, would force the state to operate economically and on a pay-as-you-go basis, he said.

Nathan Hale Was a Yale Man

Whatever other effects, either good or bad, come out of the moment of truth following U.S. admission that the Soviet Union really did catch an American air-borne spy, millions of Americans now are newly acquainted with one of their most important federal agencies.

There still is no way to find out what it spends. It might be as much as a billion; it might be as little as 100 million. The total of its employees is not known. There may be as many as 30,000, or as few as 3,000.

Nothing is known about their names, salaries, titles and duties. They can be hired and fired without observing regulations that cover other government employees. Some are cloak-and-dagger operators. Some are experts in economics and geography. Some are picked for special talents that make them peculiarly useful. All are chosen because they have some quality that presumably will help them make their employer the equivalent in due time of the British intelligence organization, the most adroit and thorough of all. But their mysterious agency—referred to in Washington as The Agency—presumably is justifying its cost and unique privileges. Its short comings are being overcome with experience.

It has existed since 1947. Officially, its title is Central Intelligence Agency. Its director is Allen W. Dulles, brother of the late John Foster Dulles. He is appointed by the President, subject to confirmation by the U.S. Senate. The CIA operates under the National Security Council.

NEVER BEFORE have so many Americans known so little about so many of their own employees. In the very nature of its operations, its activities are bound to backfire occasionally, and when they do there always will be the accusation that the blooper was badly timed.

All bloopers are badly timed. There are no good bloopers.

In the modern spy business, the main thing is not to commit any. They don't build statues any more to Nathan Hales who get caught. They write their names off the list and, if necessary, say they never heard of them. Never is it admitted that anyone in any official capacity ever gave the order that caused a spy to be where he was when he was caught.

Today, if a Nathan Hale did anything so inept as to enter enemy lines and get nabbed is as obvious a disguise as a Dutch school teacher, the CIA—if it had been a party to the scheme—probably would deny that it ever had hired a Yale man in the first place and least of all Nathan Hale in the second place.

A FIRST-RATE spy organization in a nation of popular sovereignty is a first-rate problem. For every hour of worry that has been wasted on J. Edgar Hoover's Federal Bureau of Investigation, two hours have been put in to good advantage on CIA, because no one really knows how to keep it from turning into a kind of invisible tail that might wag a visibly embarrassed dog.

Something like this may have happened in the last few days, but with spies no one can be sure. The game they play is not for fun and it is for keeps. And anyone who assumes that suddenly there is nothing but the truth being told because previously there had been nothing but lies are underestimating the game and the players—ours and the Russians, too. The boys may just be feeling each other out in a search for something more important. That's part of the game, too.

Automobiles Full of Money

The American Petroleum Institute is hammering hard at a shocking fact about taxes on automobile ownership and use.

To suggest how shocking the fact is, we venture a guess that nearly 100 per cent of auto owners and users think all the taxes they pay are earmarked for highway construction.

But 42 cents of every dollar of auto taxation collected by the federal government is kept for general fund spending. This is made possible only by the prevailing belief that all the money is spent for the benefit of motorists. Otherwise, they never would stand for such stiff taxes.

Some states also bleed off auto income for other purposes. Ohio is not one of them.

This is the result of a government point of view that looks at automobiles as producers of general revenue, which is not unreasonable in itself but becomes utterly reasonable in the light of government's other policy of making the automobile pay its own way as far as highways are concerned.

They'll Never Fence Us In

The Census Bureau admits it is beginning to have doubts about counting as many of us as it said there would be in the 1960 census count.

The rest of us always had doubts. We didn't think the bureau and its deputies ever could count 180 million Americans. We figured that while it was trying to make the count come out right another half million would have been born, another third of a million would have died, a few hundred thousand would have crawled back into the woodwork, gone overseas or disappeared into the limbo of the missing persons list.

Taking a nose-count of the American people is like trying to find out where you are while scudding along in a rapidly moving car after dark on a strange road. No one ever will know the population, and if the liberal-minded people who don't understand why will dabble in relativity and the quantum theory for a few minutes their faith in

Once Over

There should be a huge sign above the Paris summit meeting "POSITIVELY NO TRUST." Ike and Hirohito will ride together in the Tokyo parade. A sort of "And they said it couldn't be done" program? We wonder if Hirohito, during a pause in the conversation, will say, "Tell me something about your country. I've always been interested." . . . Casey Stengel has been 50 years in baseball, most of it the last few months.

Around the world in 84 days without coming up for air is a feat worthy of even more attention than it got. After all, Captain Beach and crew were the first humans to make a trip that Eleanor Roosevelt hadn't equaled.

But this is the age of wonders. People would merely yawn at news that man carrying a bass fiddle had made a trip through canals of the moon on a pogo stick during coffee break. If you want to get a look of disdain, ask any member of Triton crew, "Why didn't you write often?" We can't figure out why Mosiow hasn't accused the submarine Triton of aggression in sailing under Russian sturgeon to spy on the caviar situation.

Reply of Triton sailor to, "A sailor has a sweetheart in every port" must be, "Are you kidding?"

At the sub base they are asking the crew under water for 84 days, "Did you meet any interesting people?"—"What's new on the bottom of the sea?" and "How would you like to go down the aquarium and see the fish?"

Inside Labor

Those Soviets may hate our capitalism but they love our capital. Our agents penetrate their air space in search of information. Their agents have been penetrating our industrial of their imports have been literally poisoned material. For such sales they've collected millions of dollars.

To prove this, there is no more appropriate moment than now to report on something called the "hatters' shakes."

This comes from women's fur-fell hat bodies poured into the U.S. Czechoslovakian hat firms seized by state-operated Communist Czechoslovakian hat firms seized from their owners.

The Czechs pour some 10,000 dozen hat bodies a year into our country—each body soaked in dangerous mercury solutions.

This mercury dip gives the hats a glossier finish—and the hat workers "the shakes."

Because of the dangers of mercury poisoning, Alex Rose, leader of the Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers Union, has warned that American hat blockers will not handle the Czech goods—especially since the "shakes" have appeared in the Canadian hat industry which buys a considerable amount of such material.

IN THIS EFFORT Rose and his union have the cooperation of most of the hat manufacturing industry. This makes a saga of American capitalism guaranteed to raise Chairman Khrushchev's blood pressure.

Rose's union and the hat makers' association, for example, have organized a joint Millinery Institute which has spent more than two million dollars popularizing ladies' hats. And their devotion to royalty at this moment is high because they just loved seeing Princess Margaret, the Queen and the Queen Mother in lovely hats at "The Wedding."

The labor-management institute didn't spend all that money to popularize chapeaux made out of mercury-soaked, slave wage imports from Czechoslovakia or other lands.

In fact, both sides signed a unique contract in which the manufacturers agreed that the workers shall not be "required to work on or handle any articles or materials which contain or were processed with the use of any noxious, deleterious or poisonous substance, such as mercury or any of its compounds, which may tend to endanger the health of the workers."

There is another clause in this compact which says: "Workers shall not be required to perform any work on Czechoslovakian hat bodies . . . (and that) the association shall recommend to its members that they give preference to the use of domestic union-made hat bodies."

In those states where there are hat body production centers, the health authorities have prevailed on the legislatures to make the mercury dipping illegal. In Danbury, Conn., the anniversary of the passage of the law, Dec. 1, 1941, was actually made a legal holiday. But U.S. health laws don't reach across the seas.

NOT TOO LONG AGO, when the Soviets heard of this labor-management agreement, they sent two Czech industrial agents into Rose's headquarters here in an attempt to bully the union out of its boycott. They failed.

But some hat makers, seeking cheap raw material, still purchase the noxious bodies. Rose, in addition to revealing that his hat blockers will refuse to work in those shops in the future, pointed out that the manufacturers who deal with Czechoslovakian and other foreign low wage plants are cutting their own collective throats.

Rose points out that these foreign factories are beginning to use American dollars to expand into production of finished ladies' hats. This means that the low wage establishments will soon put American manufacturers out of business—the same hat makers who are supplying the Czechs and the others with dollar cash. It is Rose's view that this is exactly what will happen to firms which are buying steel and other feeder materials abroad.

But the hatters aren't mad. Labor and management realize they must work together against their slave wage foreign competitors or few here will be working at all.

Some say the United States is no better than the Russians because one of its secret agents got caught on a spy mission. Others say the United States is just as good as the Russians because it has been using secret agents all the time. You pay your taxes and you take your pick.

Everybody who owns books has the experience, I am sure, of moving the books from one place to another and finding a half dozen he always intended to read and never did and is going to read now if it half kills him, kills him, kills him . . . and so to sleep.

An office associate is visiting Ireland this May and I want to know if it's possible to sit on a log in a bosky glade and talk to the little people who live beneath the ferns. If it can't be done, I have no reason whatever to visit Ireland.

Whenever I get mad enough at the climate to want to turn my back on it I threaten to keep a score on the days I consider unfit for man or beast, with a view to proving bad days run 5-10-1 ahead of good days.

It has become clear to me after many enjoyable meals in a certain restaurant that the second most important reason for my enjoyment is the modest size of the portions served. Not only does this keep the prices within reason but eliminates the discomfort of over-eating, which many restaurant patrons do routinely, having paid for more food than is good for them.

One of these days the United States will be stretched out on the economic examining table to receive the bad news it has pernicious anemia brought on by knot-headed politicians who refused to modernize depreciation allowances for industrial machinery.

I agree wholeheartedly with the two candidates in West Virginia when they agreed that neither one could win. My hunch about politics is that voters by and large have gone for the two-party system hook, line and sinker—Democrats in control of Congress, Republicans in control of the White House.

Artificial Issue

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Sky Free to All Until Agreement Is Reached

What's the difference between a Russian aerial apparatus flying 188 miles in the air and taking pictures across the United States, and an American observation plane flying 12 miles above the territory of the Soviet Union also taking pictures?

Is the flight of the newest "Sputnik" of the Russians an "act of aggression"? Is it a "spy- ing" operation? Certainly it was conducted without advance notice to and without the consent of the United States government.

There is no settled basis of international law for either the claim that national sovereignty does extend into outer space or that it does not. It is an unresolved issue. Under those circumstances, the sky is free to everybody until an agreement of some kind is reached.

That is why a lot of the artificial commotion stirred up by Moscow propaganda in the last several days makes little sense. For the latest exploit of the so-called "satellite" of the Russians, which contains the dummy of a man, points up how unrealistic have been some of the comments about the American plane.

The Soviet government does not seem to be worried whether the "timing" is right. The stunt was arranged to take place at the very moment the "summit" conference was about to meet. Yet in America, some of the critics have said that the experimental observation flight by Francis Powers should never have been flown "at this time." Is the United States Air Force to be told hereafter it cannot carry on its "airborne alert" operations because these might offend Russia, though the Russians, in turn, appear to be flying their planes over Alaskan territory and their satellites across the American continent whenever they please?

HIGH-ALTITUDE flying by the reconnaissance planes of the United States is the direct result of Russia's refusal to open up and let its plane and missile sites and nuclear operations be observed, so that a surprise attack or an accidental attack can be prevented.

The case was dramatically summed up, prior to the Powers incident, in a report on April 29 by the U.S. House Committee on Appropriations, which said:

"In the final analysis, to effectively deter a would-be aggressor, we should maintain our armed forces in such a way and with such an understanding that should it ever become obvious that an attack upon us or our allies is imminent, we can launch an attack before the aggressor has hit either us or our allies. This is an element of deterrence which the United States should not deny itself. No other form of deterrence can be fully relied upon."

This is but another way of saying that, of course, the United States must operate its observation planes so that if it sees a potential enemy getting ready for a surprise attack, the American counterattack can be launched before the "first blow" actually strikes us.

The Russians have an advantage they know they are not going to be attacked first.

The Soviet Union would like nothing better than to stop all American observation measures and pick its own time for attack.

UNFORTUNATELY, there are many naive Americans who trust the words of the Russians and would frustrate our own defensive machinery and reconnaissance measures in order to appease an enemy.

"Aerial spying on the Soviet Union—done covertly and without Soviet permission—can be carried out with a very, very small probability of loss and with great gains for the West."

"During World War II, high flying reconnaissance planes, alone and unarmed, suffered fewer combat losses than any other type. And, since then, the techniques available for reducing the probability of detection and interception have been greatly advanced."

"Any aerial reconnaissance that we conduct over the Soviet Union must be extremely difficult or even impossible to detect. I, for one, firmly believe that we can conduct such reconnaissance missions over Soviet territory without their being able to do anything about it—with very rare exceptions. . . ."

"Most importantly, knowledge that we can perform aerial inspection regardless of Soviet military opposition will be the most significant factor in bringing the Soviets to eventual acceptance of the President's proposal."

"The president's offer of mutual aerial inspection has at last seized for the West the initiative in the cold war. If we press this advantage hard, we can win a major cold-war battle—perhaps decisive enough to turn the tide truly toward complete, universal and enforceable disarmament. . . ."

"Aerial reconnaissance is particularly needed against the Soviet totalitarian state, because other methods of collecting information and data operate under extreme difficulties."

The Powers episode may yet prove to be the turning point in a long struggle to get some safeguards against surprise attack.

Exercising Tips

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Get more exercise," the doctors say, "if you want to have plenty of vim and vigor—and live longer."

But this is easier said than done, particularly if you live in a big city.

The bigger the city, the harder it seems to be for most people to get an adequate amount of exercise.

For one thing, exercising is too much like work. If you like to play golf, for example, it's practically a two-day ordeal to drive out to the suburbs and find a course that will let you on.

One can always lift bar bells or do calisthenics in the privacy of the home, but these forms of exercise get to be too solitary, insipid and uninspiring.

However, if a fellow looks around him and has an inventive nature, he can find a number of ways in the city to keep in tiger-trim condition.

Here are a few possibilities:

Looking Backward

5 YEARS AGO — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reich visited Sunday in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. George Wilson in Mercer, Pa.

10 YEARS AGO — Mrs. Clara Bashaw and Mrs. Nellie Lottman Hoopes were the oldest and youngest mothers, respectively, at the mother-daughter banquet Friday at the First Baptist Church.

25 YEARS AGO — Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkbride has been elected teacher of the Bethlehem class of the Methodist Church.

40 YEARS AGO — The girls of Mrs. James Probert's class of the Christian Church and the boys of Mrs. L. B. Harris' class will be entertained by Kenneth Jewell on Tuesday.

So They Say

We don't need any more (civil rights) laws today. We need to elect people who have in their hearts and minds the desire to see all people vote.

—Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.).

One every four years the American political system goes into a trance—a form of political epilepsy that takes place as the presidential election approaches. —London Daily Mirror columnist William Connor.

Pedestrian roulette. A good way to build up your leg muscles is to try to race back and forth across a one-way street before the green light changes. Before undertaking this one, be sure your accident insurance is paid up.

Let your wife stay home and you go alone to the supermarket late Saturday afternoon to do the weekly grocery buying. This is the ultimate test of rugged manhood in our civilization. By the time you can maneuver a loaded shopping cart three times around this indoor track you'll make Ben Hur and the other chariot drivers of ancient Rome look like kids on scooters.

Exercising in the big city can be a game—if you go at it in the right spirit. With a little ingenuity you can build up a marvelous set of metropolitan muscles.

"Glass Slippers Always Pinch" by Nina Bawden. Lucy, an English orphan, was determined to be somebody, but after she has married a handsome, ineffectual young man of good family and seems to have her dreams within her grasp, she discovers she wants something sounder.

"From the Hand of the Hunter" by John Braine. Dick Corvey was dying of tuberculosis; half playfully he blamed it on the Vodi, wicked little demons he and Tom Coverack had invented as boys. Bitterly he remembers Lois, who broke off their engagement and is dating Tom now. When he falls in love with nurse Evelyn, he improves almost miraculously, but Eve wants a healthy man. And at last it is his father's need that gives Dick strength to go on.

"Where Is My Heart?" by Amelia Elizabeth Walden. "A Hundred Hills" by Howard Breslin. A very young dramatic account of the battles of Shiloh, the Siege of Vicksburg, when a military commander at last surrendered to save women and children. Against this background is told the rather slight story of Alex Kittering and her ultimate breaking of her betrothal to arrogant Bryce in favor of Tempe Dixon.

"When Doctors Marry" by Elizabeth Seifert. Theirs was no ordinary marriage, for Corliss Walker and Cannon Penrod were not only a woman and a man struggling with intense, individual problems, but doctors as well, facing the difficulty of small town life in competition with each other.

"Mrs. Sherman's Summer" by Marjorie Fischer. The scene is Long Island during the summer of 1911. Joe, oldest son of a Jewish stock broker, holds the family purse strings. Readers may quarrel with the author's choice of great writers, but they'll find challenge and delight in his discussion of their works.

"Putting First Things First—A Democratic View" by Adlai E. Stevenson. The distinguished Democrat elaborates his ideas about economic help to the world, disarmament, admission of Red China to the United States, coexistence with Russia, and a policy of daring and advancement instead of caution.

Great Lakes Longshoremen Go on Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Assn. began picketing five Great Lakes ports Monday. In Chicago, negotiations met in an effort to avert a strike by ILA Local 19.

Strikes over new wage contracts were called in Cleveland and Toledo, Ohio, Milwaukee and Erie, Pa. Stevedores picketed the Buffalo, N. Y., port terminal in what an ILA spokesman said was a drive seeking recognition from a stevedoring company.

Bargaining and picketing are on a local basis at each of the six points. Picketing affects only general import-export cargo, not bulk cargo.

Representatives of Chicago stevedoring firms and ILA Local 19 recessed negotiations Monday but scheduled another meeting today, with the union indicating its 2,000 members would not strike as long as the talks continued. Its contract expired at one minute after midnight Sunday.

Wages were the prime issue in the various ports, with locals generally seeking a base pay of $2.75 an hour.

Chicago employers, represented by the Marine Assn. of Chicago, have offered a raise of 22 cents an hour spread over a three-year period. Toledo management offered a boost of 25 cents, Cleveland management an 8-cent increase, and Milwaukee employers reportedly differed with the union by a matter of 5 cents.

The present scale is $2.33 an hour in Chicago, $2.30 in Milwaukee, $1.97 in Toledo and $2.42 in Cleveland.

Some 10,000 workers are represented by the ILA along the Great Lakes.

The union has recommended a master contract covering all ports, instead of separate contracts in tract to expire on May 15, when the export-import traffic is getting into seasonal swing on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

PROBE TEACHER'S DEATH

CINCINNATI (AP) — Investigation is being continued in the death of a veteran Cincinnati grade

A .38 caliber revolver was found lying on her chest, but it contained three empty cartridges, and Miss Hollenberg was shot but once in the chest, police reported.

CINCINNATI (AP) — An escapee from an Alabama prison camp waived a hearing before a U. S. commissioner when arraigned on a bad check charge Monday. James T. Patrick, arrested at his Cincinnati rooming house Thursday, is wanted for bad checks in several states, the FBI said. Bond was set at $5,000.

YOUR NATION OF LIGHT... AND POWER!

40% of all the electricity in the world is used in the U.S., most of it supplied by hundreds of independent electric companies like yours.

One of America's wonders to foreign visitors is the wealth of electricity we put to work in our homes, on our farms, in our jobs.

We use more light and power than the next six nations together—three times as much as the Russians—and we keep on using more all the time. On the average, you use twice as much as you did ten years ago and pay less per kilowatt-hour.

America's independent electric companies have doubled their supply of electricity every ten years. They are building now to double it again in the next ten. And because they and their millions of owners will put up the money for the new plants and lines, you won't be taxed to pay for them.

Nevertheless, some people still urge the federal government to build whole power systems that all Americans would be taxed to pay for. That's completely unnecessary—the independent electric companies are ready and able to supply all the low-price power people can conceivably need!

Keep these facts in mind the next time you hear someone talking about the "advantages" of federal government electricity.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Husbands Brief Wives on Widowhood

A gracious correspondent reminds me that discussions of retirement often fail to give consideration to the bereaved wife who is more or less forced into retirement by the death of her husband.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

I plead guilty to this omission. And my guilt is compounded by the fact that the problems of widowhood are almost a daily challenge to those of us who engage in the general practice of medicine.

The average American housewife must sooner or later face the ugly fact that she may have to live as a widow for 10 to 20 years.

Usually a few years younger than her bridegroom at marriage, she has a life expectancy which exceeds that of her husband by at least a decade.

SIMPLE ADDITION of these differentials suggests a long period of loneliness if the years of marriage are lived with no realistic thought of the future.

It is my belief that the prime responsibility for training in widowhood rests with the considerate husband. It is also my belief that the best time to begin this training is the time when life is most serene and fortunes are at a peak.

It is best (and perhaps easiest) to begin with a consideration of dollars and cents.

Almost surely beyond the age of wage-earning, the prospective widow must know what her assets will be, what regular income she can count on and how and to whom she shall go to safeguard her financial interests.

Not until she is in full possession of this information will she be able to decide whether she can live alone in the manner to which she has become accustomed or whether she will have to abandon the homestead whether it be a small apartment, a shack or an estate.

WHEN THE BASIC problems of economics and housing are of being settled, the relationships with children and grandchildren merit consideration.

If the homestead is to be preserved, should a married child be invited in? If the homestead is to be abandoned, should the widow seek smaller quarters?

Move in with one or more friends or strangers who have also been bereaved? Or take up residence with a married child?

In any case, what to do with the empty hours of the day and the long hours of the night?

To these questions, there is only one answer, as of the serene and fortunate moment of the discussion, the prospective widow, with the help and guidance of her husband, must train herself for some useful and challenging occupation or hobby.

Note the words "useful" and "challenging," for it will not be sufficient to putter about with some passing fancy or caprice.

AND THERE will be little satisfaction doing anything that is not helpful to the less fortunate and that does not require intense concentration for its accomplishment and maintenance.

Perhaps the travel agencies and some of my colleagues will resent these advices. For the widow with a useful and challenging job will be a poor prospect for the escape mechanisms of summer and winter cruises. And she'll have little need for gland shots, tranquilizers, sedatives, hypnotics, psychoanalysis or pep-up pills.

On the other hand, she'll have more than an even chance of retaining the love and affection of the children she'd rather not live with, and of the grandchildren who'll come to look on her infrequent appearances as visits from a fairy godmother. She'll have her independence and a fairly full treasury of self-respect.

Tonight's count will decide the fate of the issue, providing a vote is taken. Council could table action until another meeting.

Lincoln Shades Italian Club 1-0 In Softball Opener

Carl's Tavern, First Salem Win

31 Errors Made In Three Contests

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Errors played a major role in the final outcome of the three games that opened the 1960 Class A softball season Monday night at Kelley Field.

Of the 34 runs scored in the three tilts, only seven were earned. The rest resulted from 31 errors committed by players who found that the long winter layoff deposited a little rust in the joints.

The results showed First Salem Corporation outlasting the H. K. Porter Co., 11-8; Carl's Tavern trouncing Purity Dairy, 11-3; and Lincoln Machine edging Italian American Club, 1-0.

A three-base error in the bottom of the seventh followed by Jerry Crookston's bunt single broke up a pitching dual and gave Lincoln Machine its 1-0 win over Italian-American.

VETERANS WAYNE RUSSELL and Judge Guiler pitched excellent ball and stayed out of trouble until a dropped fly ball in the outfield by Bill Pauline got Russell into trouble in the seventh. Guiler set down the last 16 men to face him.

The winners collected only two hits off Russell who walked two and fanned four. Italian-American touched Guiler for four bingles. Guiler fanned six and had perfect control.

Carl's Tavern scored in every inning to thump Purity Dairy 11-3 in a six-inning game. Gerry Bryson scattered 10 Purity Dairy hits to record the victory.

Larry Moulin, who worked the first five innings on the mound, took the loss. He had six big errors committed behind him.

Bush pounded out three hits in four at bats for Carl's.

FIRST SALEM Corporation and Porter Co. bobbled the ball 22 times between them in a wild game which was won 11-8 by First Salem.

The winners collected only three hits off Clarence Beverly and Earlman Wallen but tallied 10 unearned runs as a result of 10 errors. First Salem scored four runs in each of the first two innings, all without the aid of a hit.

Bill Kysner picked up the victory, even though his mates reeled off 12 miscues. Ten strikeouts helped keep him off the hook.

Beverly had a perfect three for three at the plate for Porter's.

Quaker 8th Graders Beat Columbiana

The Salem 8th grade track squad squeezed out a 40-37 victory over Columbiana Monday on the Clippers' track.

Columbiana lost the meet despite the fact that its tinsclads won five of the nine events and tied for first in another. The Clippers stumbled because they were able to capture only one second place. The meet was scored on a 5-3-1 point basis.

Ward of Columbiana accounted for three of the Clippers' five first places. He captured the 100 in 11.4; won the 220 in 26.6; and came out on top in the broad jump with a leap of 16 ft. 6½ in.

Arbuckle of Columbiana won the 440 in 60 flat. The Clippers also won the half mile relay.

Salem's Tom Bauman captured the discus with his throw of 90 ft. 10 in. and tied Spiker of Columbiana for first in the high jump.

Jim Anderson set a new Salem man picked up a second place in record for the 12-pound shot, pushing the iron ball 35 ft. 4½ in. Bauman shot.

The other Salem first was posted by Bob Hiner who won the 120-yard low hurdles in 16.8. Ted Albright added a second for the Quakers in the low hurdles. His time was 17.1.

Dick Capel notched three second places for Salem, placing behind Ward in the 100, 220 and broad jump. Bill Carter ran the 440 in 1:02.5, to give the Quakers three points in that event.

Orioles Defeat Athletics 2-1 To Take Undisputed AL Lead

By The Associated Press

The Baltimore Orioles, a bunch of castoffs and kids, finally made it. They are all alone in first place for the first time since returning to the American League six years ago.

They did it by completing a three-week drive from the cellar with a 2-1 victory at Kansas City Monday night, winning their fifth in a row on home runs by Jackie Brandt and rookie Ron Hansen that backed a six-hit pitching job by Arnie Portocarrero and Jack Fisher.

It was the only game scheduled in the AL and broke a deadlock with Chicago. The Birds now lead the defending champion White Sox by a half game.

In the National League, Cincinnati rapped San Francisco 9-2 and trimmed the Giants' first-place edge over idle Pittsburgh to one game. St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 5-3 with three ninth-inning runs. Rain postponed the only other game scheduled, Los Angeles at Milwaukee, after 1½ scoreless innings.

The Orioles have won 14 of 19 after losing five of their first six, and this was their sixth straight road victory. Hansen supplied the clincher with his second major league home run in the fifth inning. Brandt's homer, his second in the AL after a winter deal with San Francisco, came in the first. He had two of the five hits off loser Ned Garver (0-3).

Portocarrero (3-0), a right-hander with only one winning season in his six-year career, had a no-hitter for four innings and a three-hit shutout for six frames. He gave way to Fisher, 21, after a leadoff single by Whitey Herzog in the seventh, when the A's added a walk and Dick Williams' single for their run.

Baseball Owners Hold Meeting

Session Linked With Senate Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—Major league baseball holds its own top drawer conference of 16 owners today, two days before the Senate opens hearings on a bill that would limit their control of players.

Although the meeting was announced by John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, it had been suggested by Commissioner Ford Frick. However, Frick insisted it was not an emergency session but originally had been planned for March in Florida. Only the top man of each club will attend.

The fact that the Senate's Antitrust Subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, had invited Frick and other baseball officials, including Branch Rickey, president of the Continental League, to testify pointed up the connection between the meeting and the bill.

Rickey will not, of course, be present at the major league session. His league favors the Kefauver bill. Phil Wrigley, president of the Chicago Cubs, is the only major league owner in favor of it.

Frick blasted the bill as "vicious, discriminatory and disastrous" and added that it was "absolutely unacceptable because it goes beyond antitrust exemptions and attempts to spell out operating rules for baseball."

However, the Kefauver bill is only one of many matters expected to be discussed at the top-level baseball meeting. Frick and American League President Joe Cronin will attend.

Each team had five men tee off and the best four scores counted.

Jim Logue of Wittenberg was individual medalist with a score of 70-73-143 over the par 72 Springfield Country Club course. Denison's Tom Smith and Fred Moore had 148s to tie for second place.

Giants Mauled 9-2 by Redlegs

Cards Score 5-3 Win Over Phillies

By The Associated Press

If a road jinx wasn't enough to make things tough for San Francisco, the National League leading Giants now find that Bob Purkey has his whammy working again.

He beat them for the second time in two tries this season as the Cincinnati Reds mauled Sam Jones and four relievers for a 9-2 romp Monday night that trimmed the Giants' lead to one game over idle Pittsburgh.

It was the fourth defeat in nine road games for the Giants, who managed a 3-0 record against Purkey last season after losing seven of eight to the big right-hander over a four-year span going back to 1955.

Third-place Milwaukee's game with Los Angeles was postponed because of rain, after 1½ scoreless innings, and St. Louis came from behind three times for a 5-3 decision at Philadelphia in the only other action scheduled in the NL.

In the American League, Baltimore has first place all to itself for the first time in the Orioles' modern history after beating Kansas City 2-1 in the only game scheduled. It was the fifth straight success for the Orioles and gave them a half-game edge over Chicago after breaking a deadlock with the White Sox.

The fourth-place Reds put away their 11th victory in their last 13 games with single runs in each of their first three frames. That chased Jones (4-3), who has suffered all his losses on the road.

Purkey (3-1) gave up a dozen hits, but didn't walk a man and blanked the Giants over the last six innings for his third consecutive victory. The Reds, who had 16 hits, made it 7-2 in a four-run fifth with the help of Gus Bell's two-run triple and two of the Giants' four errors.

The Cards, out-hit 11-9, shook off Sunday's no-hit defeat by Don Cardwell at Chicago with three runs in the ninth for their second victory in 15 road games. Daryl Spencer twice brought them from behind, squaring it 2-all with his solo sixth home run in the seventh inning and then making it 3-3 with a double in the ninth. A sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Carl Sawatski scored the clincher. Joe Cunningham's third single got the final run home.

Ernie Broglio (1-1) won it in relief after Wilmer Mizell had given up 10 hits, one Al Dark's bases-empty homer.

New York — Ronnie Cohen, 143½, New Rochelle, N. Y., stopped Jimmy Archer, 148, New York, 7.

San Antonio — Frankie Valdez, 125, San Antonio, stopped Gallo Reyes, 125, Brownsville, Tex., 8.

Tokyo — Sadao Yaita, 114, Japan, outpointed Romy Sison, 114½, Philippines, 10.

At first, promoter Al Flora reported this was given by Gainford as the excuse for Robinson's absence. Flora said the manager told him by phone they didn't realize they had been rescheduled for Monday night.

Later in New York, Gainford said he had informed Flora earlier that Robinson wasn't going to appear because they learned there was an attachment on Gonzales' purse. Gainford also said there was no stipulation in their contract that Robinson had to appear if the fight was postponed.

New Orleans — Hank Casey, 158, Los Angeles, outpointed Henry Hank, 160, Detroit, 10.

Toccoa, Ga. — Paul Anderson, 290, Toccoa, knocked out Clarence Alexander, 213, Houston, 2.

No. 20—Angles Same

JIMMY DEMARET

In the accompanying illustration you will notice particularly that the fully-formed left hand and the partially-formed right are placed on the club at almost identical angles.

Notice also that the palms face each other almost perfect. The fingers are together wrapped around the shaft. The foremost pressure in the left hand is being exerted by the last three fingers. The pressure in the right hand is being exerted by the middle two fingers.

I repeat that referring to the full-fingered grip as the "baseball grip" is completely misleading. A batter holds a bat more in the palms. If you were to hold the club in a "baseball grip," the thumbs would be around the shaft like the fingers. The palms would be controlling and more directly powering the club.

The full-fingered grip contributes the fullest measure of controlled power and rhythm to the swing and shotmaking. The common suggestion made by advocates of the Vardon or overlapping grip is, "Will the use of the full-fingered grip cause the hands to work out of harmony or in near opposition to each other?" The answer is no.

It is impossible for them to take over the swing or fight each other if the swing is a sound one.

NEXT: The thumb and forefinger of the right hand as they close properly on the club shaft.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a bright young executive who wants to set the world on fire. He was promoted and transferred to this city a few weeks ago.

Our second night in town his boss invited us to dinner at a very expensive restaurant. The boss is married but it's common knowledge he seldom takes his wife anywhere.

I felt his eyes on me all evening. He tried to hold my hand and sit too close. Last week he took us to dinner twice. Both times he insisted on dancing every number between dinner courses. He held me so tight I thought he'd crack a rib. Any fool can guess what the old baboon has in mind.

What makes me furious is my husband seems pleased I've made a hit. I don't want to spoil his chances for advancement with this company but I refuse to play this kind of game. How shall I handle it?—SACRIFICIAL LAMB.

Dear Lamb: Since your husband is reluctant to get off his gray flannel trousers and put an end to his boss' idiocy, it's up to you.

Tell him you refuse to go along on future dinner parties unless the boss brings his wife. If the old lecher phones you, give him the message first-hand.

Don't feel you must allow him any extra privileges beyond ordinary politeness. If your husband's business success hinges on your romping with his multi-handed boss, you've overestimated his ability.

Knows The Type

Dear Ann: The letter signed "Ex-Camper" really gave me a charge. As the owner of a small motel I'm plagued every season by cheapskates who've had a belly full of the "robust outdoor life" and seek the comforts of civilization.

This is the way they work it. A man will come into the motel of fice and say he wants a single room for his wife to spend the night in. He says, "The little woman has had enough of the woods for awhile but the kids and I LOVE to camp out in sleeping bags and all that stuff."

When it gets dark the whole family moves into the wife's single room for the night. They sleep on the floor in air-conditioned comfort, away from the mosquitoes and gnats. The whole family uses the shower, soap, towels and TV.

When "the wife" checks out the place looks like a cyclone hit it. I thought you'd like to hear the inside story from a guy who knows.—INKEEPER.

Dear Inkeeper: I never dreamed there were such sneaky characters in this world! Thanks for writing. I hope, however, your letter doesn't work in reverse and give people ideas.

Tongue-Tied Romeo

Dear Ann: I'm a shy guy, 19, no Rock Hudson, but I have a good personality. I'm a sophomore at the U and work part time in a book shop.

I've always been backward with girls and envy the way some guys move in without appearing cheap or fresh.

A certain doll who comes into the shop is exactly the kind of girl I could go for. Her book selections indicate a high degree of maturity and good taste.

She is pleasant to me. Period. How can I learn if she'd go out with me without being brash? If you can think of a light-hearted approach, I'd be grateful.—INTROVERT IZY.

Dear Izy: Next time the doll comes to the shop tell her you're writing a telephone book and would like to include her number.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ohio Court to Hear Milk Sales Tax Case

The Ohio Supreme Court will listen to farmers' contentions Wednesday, May 25, that their bulk milk coolers and milkhouse water heaters are not subject to state sales tax, according to Galen Greenstein, president of the Columbus County Farm Bureau Federation.

The Farm Bureau Federation has supported the dairy farmers' case because it believes the tax is unfair.

Servicemen's Burial Plot Photos Available

Next-of-kin of World War II servicemen killed or missing in action overseas may obtain a large aerial colored lithograph of the military cemetery where the serviceman is interred, or commemorated, and a smaller black and white close-up photograph of the gravesite and headstone or, in the case of those listed as "missing in action," a close-up photograph showing the name inscribed on a memorial wall.

This information was released by the American Red Cross today through Mrs. Hobart Butcher, executive director of the Salem Chapter. Mrs. Butcher said anyone wishing to avail himself of this service may send his request to the local Red Cross office with the following information: 1. Name of deceased; 2. Service number of the deceased, if known (not VA claim number); 3. Name, relations and mailing address of person making the request.

Photos of grave sites in National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific at Honolulu and all national cemeteries in the continental United States also may be requested by giving the same information, Mrs. Butcher said.
